

Millstream House

A specialist residential home for adults with Huntington's Disease, Acquired Brain Injuries or Physical Disabilities.

- Can accommodate up to 20 service users
- Excellent range of facilities which have been adapted to suit the needs of all service users
- Emphasis on making service users feel at ease and able to make their own life choices

Located near Rochester, Kent, Millstream House was opened in February 2004 following complete renovation and provides residential care for up to 20 people aged between 18 and 65 who have Huntington's Disease, Acquired Brain Injuries (ABI) or physical disabilities.

Situated on a hill overlooking the Medway Estuary and with views towards Rochester Cathedral and Castle, the home offers long-term and short-term care in a purpose built converted building with generously proportioned accommodation that has good links with the Huntington Society and local resources.

Millstream is a light, airy building that was designed with residents needs in mind. The garden has a large paved area which is surrounded by scented flower beds. It has several large lounges and dining rooms, and all bedrooms have en-suite facilities. There are also specialist bathrooms per five residents which include fixed hoists and supports. The home also has accommodation for family to stay overnight if they so require.

The aim at Millstream is always to create a home where people feel at ease and able to make their own life-choices for as long as possible. A major emphasis is also, importantly, on quality, and delivering a personalised service that is tailor-made for each person.

All staff receive individualised training programmes to ensure they are competent in all aspects of care, with specific training provided for Huntington's Disease and ABI. The aim is to deliver not only the highest standards of care, but to become a friend and trusted professional to all service users.
